TEA-SCENTED
CANDLE MAKING
IN 6 STEPS

TEA BLENDING

Each TWG Tea candle is the result of a magical process, which begins with the selection of just the right tea leaves, be they single estate harvests or exclusive blends.

ELABORATING THE FRAGRANCE

2 Infusion is a traditional perfumery process rarely used today, which preserves the infinite subtlety of the tea leaves and is delightfully similar to the process of brewing tea. The perfumer must decide on the optimum amount of time to infuse the tea leaves in alcohol, using both skill and personal preference. After years of research & development, TWG Tea uses 6 kilograms of tea to extract enough precious absolute to lend corps to each scented candle.

3 FORMULATING THE WAX

The formula used to create the

TWG Tea candle wax is the fruit of specific developments which provide exceptional olfactory and burning qualities to your candle.

PREPARATION & POURING

A High quality heat resistant glass is prepared and cleaned of any dust and debris.

100% cotton wicks are primed with wax to remove any air trapped inside. After incorporating the fragrance, the molten wax is carefully hand poured into each glass at a precise temperature to ensure it cools down evenly, without any bumps or cracks.

5 TRIMMING THE WICK

After the molten wax is poured into the glasses, the wicks go soft due to the effect of the heat. Therefore, when the wax begins to solidify, the wicks are straightened by hand so they stay perfectly centred to ensure a clean burn. Once the candles are cool, the wick is cut to 5mm to prevent any excessive smoke or soot when lit.

PACKAGING

6 Topped with a gilded rose lid, the cool and surfaced candles are inspected, wiped and carefully packaged by hand.

1837 BLACK TEA

The high mountain plateaus are ripe with the delicate perfume of freshly harvested tea.

Inspired by the quiet sophistication of TWG Tea's signature blend, 1837 Black is scented with an epicurean fantasy of black tea, vanilla, musk and sweet spices, a sparkling promise of enigmatic delights.

FIVE O'CLOCK TEA

The fragrance of English garden flowers fills a lush drawing room, where a delectable infusion of the finest high-grown Ceylon black tea is steaming in delicate teacups. Sparkling and fresh yet creamy and sensual, Five O'clock is the epitome of an elegant gathering around the afternoon tea table.

WHITE EARL GREY

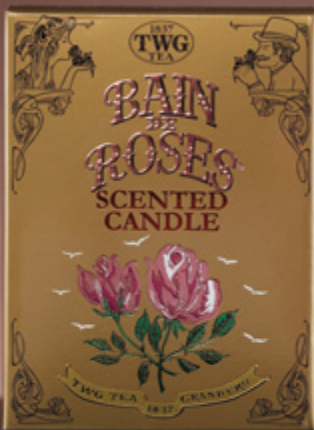

Zested with citrusy mineral notes that lend their raw purity to this elegant fragrance, White Earl Grey is a refreshing combination of sparkling bergamot and downy leaves of imperial white tea which pervade the senses with a crystalline scent, reminiscent of moon water.

FRENCH EARL GREY

The fragrance of freshly infused black tea wafts through a window, both invigorating and sensual. Fields of blue cornflowers bob in the warm Provençal breeze. Citrus trees are heavy with fruit. French Earl Grey is bright and crisp, an airy reminder of youthful summers of insouciance.

BAIN DE ROSES TEA

In the month of May, the dusky roses of Grasse come into flower, enveloping Provence in an intoxicating perfume. Combined with a secret bouquet of black tea, heady notes of white sandalwood, warm vanilla and fresh grapefruit, Bain de Roses exhales a passionate and dramatic elixir as sweet as a macaron à la rose.

MACARON NOIR TEA

MIRACULOUS MANDARIN TEA

Soft waves escape from a teapot, sending fresh notes of steam into the air. A celebration of mysteries, Miraculous Mandarin is scented with a panorama of black tea, rich spices, frankincense and notes of candied sweetness, an invitation to a sumptuous and lavish feast of the senses.

HOW TO BURN YOUR CANDLE

When lighting the candle for the first time, burn until liquid wax covers the entire surface. Trim the wick to 5mm and burn in a draught-free area. Do not place a lit candle directly on marble and never leave it unattended. TWG Tea Candles can burn for 60 hours. Store in a cool, dark and dry place.

HOW TO USE YOUR CANDLE LID

The lid serves as a base to protect delicate table tops or to extinguish the flame.
